The Bankers Who Funded Both Sides of World War II

While millions died on the battlefields of World War II, a select group of bankers were doing something unthinkable: funding both sides of the conflict. This is the untold story of how Wall Street, the Bank of England, and a mysterious institution in Switzerland kept money flowing to Nazi Germany—even as Allied soldiers fought and died. In this video, we expose the financial networks that made Hitler's war machine possible. From American corporations like Ford and IBM building equipment for the Wehrmacht, to the Bank for International Settlements laundering looted Nazi gold, to the Bank of England transferring Czechoslovak gold reserves directly into Hitler's hands—the truth is more shocking than you imagined.
